 In reference to this piece, the late Mr. Jonathan Rashleigh says in his MS. notes: "There can be no doubt now to which king this coin belongs. A coin with the king's name similarly spelt and with the same moneyer 'Eannulf,' but of the type of Burgred's coins, was found with a hoard of Burgred's coins at Gravesend in the autumn of 1838, vide Num. Chron. 1840." It is solely on account of this attribution by so eminent a numismatist, that the piece in question is placed by the cataloguer to the reign of the second Ceolwulf; but since the above was written, Mr. Kenyon's classification of the coins of Ceolwulf I and II in the second edition of Hawkins, and that of Mr. Keary in the British Museum Catalogue, have been quite confirmed by the large find of Anglo-Saxon coins described in the Num. Chron. 1894 (3rd Series), vol. XVI, pp. 29-76, so that this coin must now be transferred to the reign of Ceolwulf I, as also the next piece. The above specimen was amongst the hoard found at Trewiddle, near St. Austell, Cornwall, in 1774. Ex Rashleigh lot 74. Ex Sir John Evans coll. lot 71.

Dear Mr. Lockhart,

I plan to read a short paper on one or two rare early Aps coins, largely ex Granby, and wondered if I might illustrate & discuss Beornwulf 1 (penny ex Granby 860). It for would allow me to do so (should be worth). I think it will be getting ready two slides for me and I have told him I will ask him if he would be. I have been coin for casting. (If this is not convenient I have no doubt that they could use a cast they must have from the Granby plates. The paper is for the BMS in June, so perhaps
